KNOTTY ALDER DOORS

Knotty Alder Doors from Simpson

The largest selection of knotty alder doors in the industry

Knotty alder has fast become one of the most common wood species used in American homes for cabinets, doors and other millwork products. Its combination of rustic charm and warm coloring make it a perfect match for today's casual living. Offshore manufacturers have capitalized on this trend by flooding the market with knotty alder products, including large quantities of doors. Unfortunately, the breadth of designs offered by these importers have been limited and builders and homeowners have been frustrated by the lack of design choices.

Looking for more design choices for your knotty alder doors? Look to Simpson. We're nestled in the forestlands of the Pacific Northwest and manufacture over 900 standard door designs. We've been hand-crafting America's finest doors for nearly 100 years and have earned our reputation for quality, innovative design and unmatched performance. So when you want knotty alder doors and are looking for something different, there's no better choice than Simpson.

The Simpson Advantage:

- We offer the most standard knotty alder door designs in the industry.
- Now you don't have to settle for choosing from just a handful of knotty alder design options – with Simpson, the knotty alder options are limitless.
- If you can't find a door you like from our standard product line, don't worry. Simpson has a facility dedicated solely to the manufacturing of one-of-a-kind doors.
- Quality, as always: engineered stile and rail construction assures your doors are as dependable as they are beautiful.

“OUR DOOR”

[STEP-BY-STEP]

“My wife and I are both engineers and are always fascinated by the ways in which products improve and evolve over time. So when it was time to build our dream home, we dug in to do the research to find the most natural, yet highest performing products available. Our research for doors brought us to Simpson.”

— The David Family, Richland, WA

And here's how we arrived at our decision:

STEP 1

“We understand Simpson makes doors from dozens and dozens of wood species, but it was never any doubt we wanted knotty alder. It has a casual feel with a sense of elegance.”

STEP 2

“We wanted the privacy of an all panel door, but didn't want to sacrifice on design. So we went with an impressive 8 foot tall double door system featuring a shared arch between the doors. We love it.”

STEP 3

“Our authorized dealer told us about Simpson's Performance Series® upgrades. We added UltraBlock technology to both doors, a small upgrade that increased our warranty to 5 years. An amazing deal!”

STEP 4

“We topped it all off with the right hardware and now have all the other neighbors asking us about our doors.”
